

ParkLogic looks forward to providing Enterprise level customers with additional domain industry wide analysis that is based upon data generated from within the huge ParkLogic data repository. This commentary is aimed at providing senior ParkLogic customers with insights into the domain industry not normally available.

Monthly analysis will be conducted by the ParkLogic team in an effort to educate and keep our customers informed so that they can take advantage of potential opportunities before other competitors know that they exist! Customers will be provided with access to the information as it is made available.

The ParkLogic team not only gathers data from disparate sources but interprets the data for the benefit of our customers. For the first time we will be making these previously internal reports available to our customers.
